

Course Code and Name: MSJ2102 Convergence Communication I

Project Name: Restoring Harmony

Project Type: Trashion Show

Date of Submission: Fall 2023

Project Description:

Restoring Harmony is a fashion-based environmental awareness project developed around the theme of ecosystem restoration, with a specific focus on forest restoration. The project uses a Trashion Show to visually represent the contrast between a healthy forest and one affected by pollution, deforestation, and human waste. Two models were used to represent these opposing conditions. One represented Mother Nature, using green and blue elements to symbolize a healthy and balanced environment, while the other represented a damaged and polluted forest. Recycled and discarded materials such as polythene, plastic bags, glue, and other waste materials were incorporated into the outfits to demonstrate how human consumption and waste can contribute to environmental degradation. Through fashion, color, and recycled materials, the project aimed to communicate that restoring forests is essential for maintaining clean air and water, protecting wildlife, and preserving ecological balance.

Project Justification:

The project highlights the importance of forests and the urgent need to restore ecosystems damaged by human activities. Using discarded materials in fashion transforms waste into creative communication while promoting responsible consumption. The contrast between Mother Nature and the polluted forest visually shows the impact of human actions on ecosystems. Ultimately, the project uses fashion to raise environmental awareness and encourage people to protect and restore nature.

Theme
CI theme: (Write about the semester theme 'ecosystem restoration’ in your language.) (50-150 words)	The goal of ecosystem restoration is to restore nature and omit the harmful objects affecting it. Reforestation, wetland rehabilitation, and other treatments with the goal of promoting a balanced environment are all part of the process. Ecosystem restoration helps to prevent climate change and protect important ecosystems by tackling problems like pollution, habitat loss, and deforestation. Ensuring the wellness of our planet and maintaining the balance is essential.		01

Group/Individual theme: (What was your theme? Why did you take this theme?) (150-250 words)	"Forest Restoration" was our project's topic. The significance of forests should be made clear to the audience because they are home to a variety of species. The ecosystem is impacted when forests are destroyed or trees are chopped down. Restoring forests and planting new trees, which restores the natural order. This is essential for maintaining clean water, air, and animal housing. By absorbing carbon dioxide, it helps in the fight against climate change.	02

In our group there were two models. In order to help the viewers understand what was truly happening to the forest and why it is so necessary to repair it from degradation, we planned to present mother nature, using green and blue colors. Another model showed the polluted version of the forest. Additionally, for our destruction outfit, we recycled items. We reasoned that our message would be easy for our audience to understand.

We first discussed our theme and concepts over group calls. I created the designs and the whole team wrote the theme. Next, we gathered as much information as we could. The majority of the supplies, including polythene, hot glue guns, glue, and plastic bags, were gathered by our manager. Since the manager resides in Narayanganj and was unwell, it was somewhat challenging for us to meet. The majority of our work was done in Ulab and at home. We had a lot of plans, but many of them fell through during the project, necessitating numerous revisions.

The ramp was excellent, in my opinion, but the area organization was insufficient. Since there was no designated waiting area on the first floor, the majority of pupils felt worn out. But later on a room was managed for the performers and teams to take rest in and complete the show successfully.

What have you realized about your succession at the end? How should you do the fashion if you want to do it again? What	New laws and ideas are met with criticism from the elderly. Consequently, they do not believe that using recycled materials to create apparel as a means of raising awareness is a smart concept. The younger age, on the other hand, enjoys understanding and talking about this kind of imaginative stuff very much. Furthermore, when we interact with people who have our background and age, we are more likely to connect with them and communicate ideas effectively. I would design a more understated and inconspicuous attire that would be appropriate for public wear without garnering undue notice, all while promoting environmental health. One of my strong suits was my ability to reach my objectives. But I think there are a couple things I should have included in my original idea. I really love how the project turned out.
