

Project 7

Course Code and Name: MSJ2202 Convergence Communication II

Project Name: Discombobulated Predicament

Project Type: Video Art

Semester of Submission: Spring 2024

Project Description:

“Discombobulated Predicament” explores how free expression supports learning and personal growth. It shows how social expectations and judgment can suppress self-expression and emotional freedom. The four-shot video uses masks, public judgment, dance, and shared human experiences to communicate this struggle. The concept paper also outlines the cast, locations, equipment, props, and music required for production

Project Justification:

The concept was chosen to examine how social pressure and the fear of judgment restrict people from expressing themselves and continuing to learn and grow. Using mask imagery, movement, and mixed-media stop-motion techniques allowed the idea to be communicated visually and abstractly rather than through direct narration, giving me the opportunity to practice conceptual video art development, shot planning, and production coordination.

Title: Discombobulated Predicament

Thought and Idea of the Concept

The idea is how free expression can help our learning process to be genuinely effective. And how we are suppressed by the social boundary and our experience is also congested. That is why we cannot stay adapted to our learning for a long period. Society sometimes halts us from knowing beyond. These difficulties are not helpful for our learning.

Visualization

Shot 1 (title): Top-shot (indoor).

Coloring the mask and showing its process through stop motion, while the title appears around the mask. The mask is placed on tiles.

- Video message 1: A process of being habituated with anything.
- Video message 2: Color process signifying: contradicting color theories.

Shot 2: Frontal extreme long shot (Full-body).

The subject is standing with a colored mask and a shopping bag in his hand (another self of the subject is dancing around him). Few people come into the frame and stare at the subject for a little bit. People then approach the camera looking into it for a moment and then leave the frame.

- Video message 1: The subject is embarrassed to show emotions in public.
- Video message 2: The shopping bag symbolizes the subject as a commoner.

Shot 3: long shot (indoor)

The subject is dancing in the frame with a melodious expression. The subject has a very serious emotion.

- Video message 1: The urge to express emotions.
- Video message 2: A ritual for wanting freedom.

Shot 4: Two people suddenly appear beside the subject, and after a moment they leave the frame.

- Video message 1: Each individual might have a story to tell, but do not normally get the chance to convey their messages to others.
- Video message 2: Different entities might have the same approaches and experiences in life.

Background music: waterfall sound, match sticks sound, violin sound, and bell sound.
